

The Second Join

Trace the join between c and h. Start at the red dot and use the arrows to help you.

Copy out these joins to practise. The first one has been done for you. All these joins are made using the same pattern as the ch example.

ch ch

at at

ck ck

th th

Now try the join from an e. The join is still made in the same way.

el el

et et

